On a very cool and brisk morning four MGs, Mini Cooper, TR 6, and Jaguar met at the Exxon Station on River Road for a drive through the fields and Carmel Valley

Heading South

After a Drivers Meeting, we left the station and headed south on River Road. We passed fields and a few wineries and made a sharp left turn (only one of the day) on Clark Road that led us to Arroyo Seco. This turned into Carmel Valley Road which was full of potholes and twisties and fortunately we missed most of the potholes and didn't grind too many gears through the turns.

Once we got past Carmel Village, it was a straight shot to our destination, Valley Hills or the parking lot at Baja Cantina. Because we had the collies, Samantha and Ginger with us, we decided to have lunch at the Bear and Flag, where some of us had salad and the rest had a sandwich. Pretty tasty was the consensus. All in all, it was a grand day to drive our British cars on the Monterey Peninsula. Next one will be in May! – Any ideas on where we should go?
